CLOSING PRICES OF BOSTON STOCKS

Friday, August 21-p. m.

There was a general loss of values in the stock inducing the sale of the large block of Western Union held by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad

At the present rate of withdrawals for shipment to Canada, for use in the arts and for hoarding, the gold reserve in the United States Treasury will be carried below $100,000,000 in about two in addition to those already arranged for are probable in the near future. These importations will be made, of course, by the foreign exchange easier task in regulating exchange than the bond syndicate of 1895 had under its contract with the Government. The most helpful thing for the ex-change syndicate, it is clear, has been the mainchange syndicate, it is clear, has been the maintenance of high rates for money, which has induced the making of sterling loans on an extensive scale. These loans have created exchange far in excess of the requirements of remitters. Gold importations always produce a better feeling in the stock market and a higher range of values, whether the importations are the result of natural conditions or not. Improved prices for securities benefit borrowers, in that less collateral is required by lenders than when prices are low. An advance in stocks need make no difference in the rates for money. In fact, an advance is calculated to expand speculation and cause a greater demand for money. It is plainly the purpose of the exchange syndicate and the banks and financial institutions allied with it to obviate the necessity for another issue of bonds by the Government. A bond issue before election, or a condition of the Treasury gold reserve pointing to an issue, would impart an impetus to the free-silver movement. There is money erough in the Treasury for the needs of the Government. The thing to do is to keep up the gold reserve, and it seems to be in the power of the exchange syndicate and the banks to do this. The undertaking of the syndicate is a big one, and yet, as it is participated in by houses on the other side as well as on this side, its entire success is assured.
